GOVERNOR TO FOLLOW OUT WILSON PLAN

Pinkham Tells Leading Democrats That He Will Listen to Advice but Reserves to Himself the Decisions Pertinent to His Office

POINTS TO NATIONAL DEMOCRACY AS BEACON

'Star Chamber' Sessions Are Not on Program, According to Initial Message

Two-score active Democrats, practically all of them active party workers, met Governor Pinkham at 3 o'clock this afternoon upon the written invitation of the governor.

With a brief statement which he had prepared in advance, the new chief executive made clear his policy, particularly with reference to patronage and upon what basis he will distribute it.

Below is published the statement of the governor which he read and which explains, he says, as far as he wishes to explain what he will and will not do with respect to patronage. The statement is simple, short and clear. He announced before reading it that it contained all he wished to say.

Among the 39 Democrats who had been invited to appear at the meeting were many who have been extremely active lately in discussion of patronage and plans for distribution of offices, according to party and committee endorsements.

One of the significant things brought out in the governor's statement is that he wishes to be guided largely by personal consultation, which is taken to mean that he will not give sole weight to party endorsements but will rely on his own judgment in selecting the men for important offices. Also he intimates that he does not favor "star chamber" sessions.

Said the governor in his statement: "Your governor prefers at present personal consultations as he has no experience in party discussions and asks they may be deferred until he has had the opportunity to become fully acquainted with its personnel."

The governor made it a point to state that he did not wish his invitation list to be taken as exclusive, and says that those who failed to receive an invitation should not take it as a significant omission.

"The limitations of the executive office and lack of time may have caused some omission in invitations that I may regret," he says, adding "but it has no significance."

Gentlemen: As prominent Democrats and representatives of Democracy in the territory of Hawaii you have been invited to meet the first Democratic governor of these islands, that through you and the publicity accorded to the statements here made the members of the party throughout the territory, and others who sympathize with the objects of the administration may know the spirit and purpose of the governor who has been commissioned to here represent national Democratic administration, and to here work out and harmonize local conditions with national policies.

The concrete purposes of the administration and its firm persistence have been so demonstrated by legislation that it is not necessary to here enlarge upon known political and economic facts.

The Democracy of Hawaii must draw its lessons from the national administration and attempt no substitutions.

The administration is a creative force, for, while condemning an economic and social condition

REMEMBER JANUARY SEVENTH!

Yo-ho, heave ho, with the rum below. We'll subscribe for Carnival stock. A pirate's rendezvous, located in Bishop Park opposite the Young hotel, and in charge of a band of whiskered and gaily costumed outlaws of the sea, was this morning designated as the headquarters of the Honolulu Ad Club during its campaign Wednesday of selling stock in the proposed corporation to be known as the Mid-Pacific Carnival, Limited. Arrangements for the great campaign practically have been completed, and

MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION TO ELECT OFFICERS AND DISCUSS MERGER PLANS

At the annual meeting of the Merchants' Association tomorrow afternoon, it is expected that the matter of the proposed amalgamation of that body with the Chamber of Commerce will come up for discussion and a special committee be appointed to act in co-operation with the chamber's committee in completing the final plans for the merger.

As the matter now stands, although both organizations have, through a postal card vote, approved the proposition, another vote remains to be taken in the membership of the chamber and the association before the merger is perfected. Following the appointment of the two special committees, these bodies will meet and draw up a set of by-laws to govern the proposed greater commercial organization. These by-laws will then be referred back to the Chamber of Commerce and Merchants' Association for their approval. If both favor the regulations, the merger will be assured, it is said.

The principal matter of business at the meeting of the merchants tomorrow will be the election of the directors, and in this instance two separate tickets have been prepared; one by the nominating committee and the other by the membership at large. The tickets follow:

Nominated by the committee: O. C. Swain, George G. Guild, Otto A. Bierbach, George A. Brown, Ed Towse, S. S. Paxson, Harry C. Bruns, Robert W. Booth and John T. Warren.

Nominated by the members: W. D. Adams, Charles S. Crane, John T. Warren, W. C. McGonagle, W. R. Farrington, George A. Brown, T. M. Church, R. B. Booth, S. S. Paxson.

REVELL PLEADS GUILTY ON FIVE COUNTS AND IS GIVEN SIX MONTHS

Walter Revell, for whom extradition proceedings were undertaken by the territory and who returned from San Francisco last week to face five indictments charging the passing of fraudulent checks, will serve six months in Oahu prison for his crime.

He appeared before Circuit Judge Robinson this morning and pleaded guilty to all five charges, and on the first one was given the six months' sentence. At the suggestion and with the consent of those who had preferred them against him he was given suspended sentences for the other four charges.

Pirate Tom Sharp, with a corps of other pirates as assistants, has been appointed to be in charge at the Bishop street headquarters. The team leaders and their assistants will be at headquarters at 7:15 o'clock Wednesday morning and, after receiving their final instructions, will begin the campaign proper at 8 o'clock. The Ad Club committee has devised an attractive arrangement by which the public will be informed as to the progress of the stock selling. Outside the pirates' lair will stand the famous old cannon which Jack Atkinson culled from the treasures of the Hawaiian sunboat Kaimaloa. Opposite this will be a great target, with a bullseye enclosed by a series of rings. Between the rings will be figures ranging from 3000 to 15,000 and reports from the selling committees will be received each hour up until 6 o'clock in the

BELIEVES PEOPLE ARE NEARER PACIFICATION THAN THEY EVER WERE

Brigadier-general, Well Versed in Conditions in Southern Philippines, Local Visitor

"A Moro with a rifle, and a Moro minus a rifle, are two very different men. Take away the rifle, and you take away the menace, to a large extent."

So said Brigadier-general John J. Pershing, homeward bound after a tour in the Moro country, when seen at army headquarters this morning. General Pershing is the ranking passenger on the Sherman, which sailed at noon today for the coast, after a 24 hour stay in port.

General Pershing probably knows more about the situation, political, military and social—in the southern islands of the Philippines than any one else in the service of Uncle Sam, for he has served two tours of four years each in the Moro country, the first as military governor of Mindanao, and the second as civil governor and department commander combined.

Governor Is Satisfactory

"I believe that the Moros are nearer to pacification and prosperity than ever before," continued the general. "Only some very foolish move, which might antagonize the people by stirring them to religious frenzy, will check the peaceful development of the province under the new civil government planned for it."

"The removal of the American troops will not affect business conditions for the worse, because their places are being taken by Scouts, many of whom have families to support, and who distribute their money more, the American soldier, as a rule, either saved his pay against his return home, or else spent it in amusements which did not help legitimate business. There is great satisfaction over the appointment of Frank W. Carpenter as the first civil governor, and the people are predicting a very successful administration."

General Pershing had nothing to say of the Philippine policy of the present administration, and did not care to discuss politics. He did say, however, that in his opinion the present three-year tour in the islands was too long, and that if any change is contemplated, it should be to cut it, rather than to lengthen it.

Achievement of Pershing

Possibly the most striking achievement of General Pershing has been the disarmament of the Moros. Prior to 1911, though an attempt had been made to locate all firearms among the Mohammedan population, no restrictions whatsoever were placed upon the possession and carrying of those long knives—krises, barongs, kampis— which in the hands of Moros are more deadly than rifles. The bearing of cutting weapons was a sign of nobility among these men of Islam.

The date, accompanied by his retainers bearing aloft those keen blades with handles of ivory or go's, many of them priceless heirlooms, believed himself in possession of the insignia of sovereign power—comparable to the axe borne before the Roman consul. Indeed, in the bygone days of datu rulers, the knives did represent to the masses of the people the power of life and death in no figurative sense. Disarmament meant, therefore, not only increased personal security and the removal of continual temptation to brawl and murder; it meant the breaking down of the last existing barrier to the full recognition of American sovereignty.

Bought Up Firearms

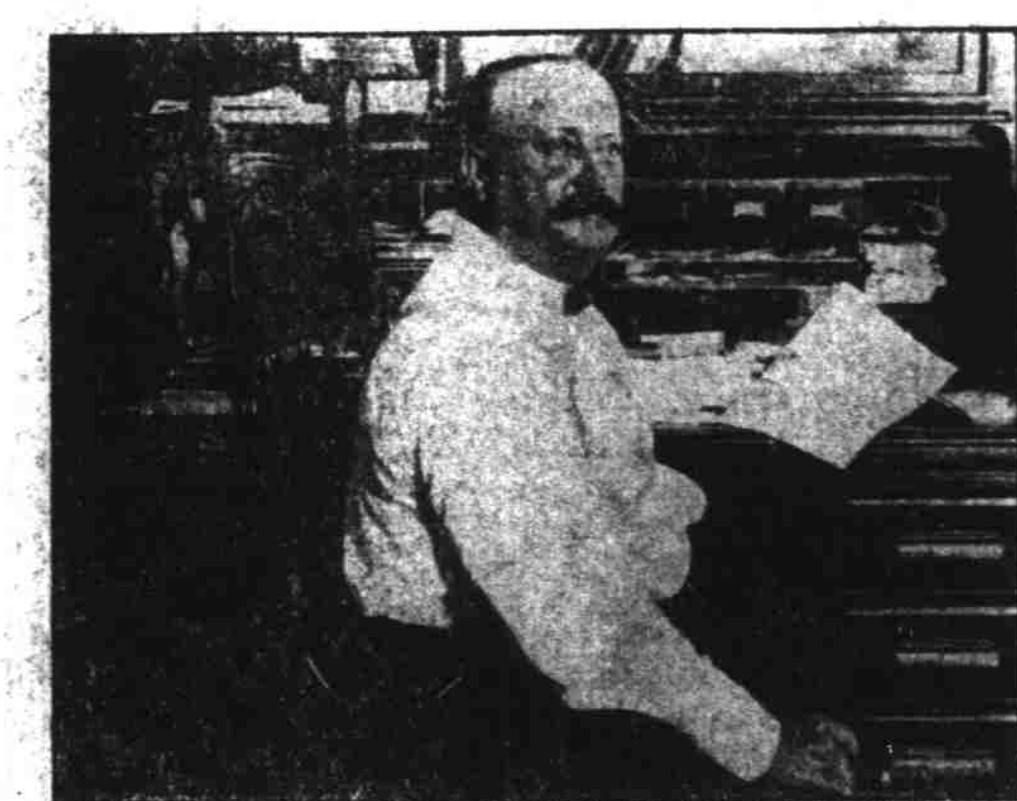

In 1911 General Pershing issued an executive order prohibiting the possession of cutting and thrusting weapons. The Moros were offered fair compensation for firearms turned in by December 1, 1911. After that date coercion was employed where necessary, and the desultory resistance of the Sulus culminated in the battle of Bagsak, on June 11th last. About 7000 firearms have been taken up since disarmament proceedings began, and resistance to the measure is practically at an end. The disarmament order has now been enforced, and outlaw bands run to earth in the five districts of the Moro province. It may be truthfully said that the peace which now prevails in this province is more profound than the territory has ever known since the ancestors of its warlike tribesmen landed on these shores far anterior to the dawn of history.

General and Mrs. Pershing were entertained last night at a reunion dinner given at the University club by the general's classmates of West Point. '86. These include Majors Smith, Hardey, and Penn, and Lieutenant-colonel Hirst. The last-named, however, was unable to be present. Those who sat at the dinner table last night, and who thoroughly enjoyed the evening of reminiscences were General and Mrs. Pershing, Lieutenant-colonel and Mrs. Mencher, Major and Mrs. Hardey, Major and Mrs. Smith, Major and Mrs. Preston and Major Penn.

Classmates Entertain

General Pershing called on Generals Funston and Macomb this morning, and renewed acquaintance among many old friends here, there being a large delegation of Schofield's af-

HENDRY IS RECOMMENDED AS SUCCESSOR IN U. S. OFFICE

U. S. Marshal Eugene R. Hendry, who has batch of recommendations for his reappointment to office.

(Special Star-Bulletin Cable)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 5.—A great batch of endorsements has been received by the department of justice urging the reappointment of Eugene R. Hendry as United States marshal for the territory of Hawaii. Several other applications for the position have been received by the department and a selection at the present time is uncertain. Other applicants are Bremkamp, Green, Haley and Mossman.

C. S. ALBERT.

Marshal Hendry has been endorsed for reappointment by more than 200 persons according to information given out here this morning and it is believed that his closest competitor for the position will be Mossman mentioned in the above cable from the Washington correspondent of the Star-Bulletin. Harry C. Mossman is the attorney of Wailuku, Maui, according to M. C. Pacheco, chairman of the territorial Central Committee and has that organization's endorsement for the appointment and also is backed in his fight for the office by the national committee, J. H. Wilson. The only Bremkamp appearing in the directory is Henry Bremkamp, Jr., a conductor on the H. R. T. & L. Co. Mr. Bremkamp could not be reached this afternoon. Each of the Halays and Greens who could be reached denied that they were candidates for the office.

HUI NALU WILL HAVE CLUBHOUSE OUT AT WAIKIKI

Vigorous Young Organization Plans 'Hawaiian Nights' To Raise Funds

Plans for a clubhouse at Waikiki have been practically completed by the Hui Nalu, the already-famous swimming and canoeing organization, of which Duke Kahanamoku, world's champion, is a member.

The clubhouse is to be built at Alinahau Lane, across the street from the Moana hotel, and will be of comfortable and commodious type. The site will be leased for a long term.

To raise the funds for the clubhouse, the Hui Nalus are planning two "Hawaiian Nights" at the opera house and have set the dates tentatively at February 11 and 13. Definite announcement as to the dates will be made later.

President Rawlins of the Hui Nalu, discussing the building plans, said today:

"The clubhouse will be a roomy structure of the bungalow type, one story, planned so that the roof may be raised and a second story built if desirable. It is close to the beach and will give the members of the club an adequate gathering place."

"The Hui Nalu has been in existence only a little more than two years and already has won two Pacific coast and one Portola swimming championships, besides having sent to the last Olympic games the man who won the world's short-distance swimming championship. The club is progressing fast and quarters are desirable."

The programs planned for the two evening events next month are to be largely of a typical Hawaiian type. A scene at Waikiki beach will be shown and there will be some excellent singing. Ernest Kaai has given the services of his singers and musicians and will be of much assistance. "Dudie" Miller has taken the Hui Nalu quintet in hand and is rehearsing it on special songs and a number of young Hawaiian girls will take part. A list of patronesses will be given later.

"The Hui Nalu will participate largely in the floral parade and carnival events," said Rawlins today. "The services of the club are at the disposal of the management and we are anxious to do anything we can to make the carnival a success. We shall have men in the swimming meet, water carnival in the harbor, pageant on the beach and in the production of 'The Mayor of Tokio.'" ter officers in town for the sailing of the transport. The returning brigadier planned to call on Colonel J. W. Jones, adjutant-general of the national guard, whom he met on a previous visit to Honolulu, but the latter had been called away from his office, and General Pershing left his greetings with other officers.

WILSON WON'T HURT HAWAII, SAYS R. C. BROWN

Comments Democrats Who Ask That Sharp Criticism of President Be Suspended

The Star-Bulletin has received the following timely communication from Raymond C. Brown, European agent of the territorial board of immigration, who was recently in Washington on his way to Honolulu:

Sir: I would be glad of the opportunity, through your columns, to commend to the citizens of Hawaii, the remarks credited to Mr. Harry Irwin of Hilo, in his address before the national Democratic league dinner to Governor Pinkham on last Friday evening, and also the statements made by Mr. L. L. McCandless in an interview through the Advertiser of Saturday morning. Mr. Irwin said:

"I would like to impress upon our business men and more particularly upon those who through the public press attempt to mould public opinion in this territory, the absolute folly of the harsh criticisms which from time to time are directed against the president of these United States. I firmly believe that if the people of these islands make a determined effort to meet the new conditions and if after such honest effort we find that our industrial life is still in danger the Democratic party and the Democratic administration will be forced to take action."

QUEEN LILUOKALANI PATRONESS FOR DANCE OF THE HUI AU KAI

The announcement made by the members of the Hui Au Kai, the Girls' Swimming Club, of Honolulu, that they will give a dance on January 24 to raise funds to bring the champion woman swimmer of the Pacific Coast to Honolulu to take part in the Mid-Pacific Carnival has met with approval at Washington Place, and her majesty, Queen Liliuokalani, has consented to act as one of the patronesses and lend her support to the affair. Thirty-two of Honolulu's society women, in civil and service circles, have promised their aid, and the club members feel assured that the move will be successful.

There are but eight members in this organization, composed entirely of the active girl swimmers in Honolulu. After a number of consultations with members of the Carnival committee who declined to send for any women swimmers, the Hui Au Kai decided to start the fund themselves.

Attractive hand-painted posters are being prepared by the club members and their friends and it is hoped with the personal attention the affair is to receive that at least $300 will be raised on this one occasion.

BRITISH AMBASSADOR TO MEXICO WHO ANGERED U. S. IS TRANSFERRED TO BRAZIL

Sir Lionel Carden Given Increased Salary but Shifted Quickly to South American Post—He Said American Administration Didn't Understand Mexican Conditions

(Associated Press Cable)

LONDON, Eng., Jan. 5.—Sir Lionel Carden, British ambassador to Mexico, has been ordered transferred to Brazil. A statement from the foreign office says that his transfer has been made at an increased salary. The office declines to discuss whether or not Sir Lionel's attitude toward the United States' policy in Mexico has had anything to do with his transfer.

Sir Lionel has served but a short time at Mexico City. Some months ago he gave out a statement saying that the Wilson administration did not understand Mexican conditions or know what it was doing in Mexico. The foreign office soon after made it plain that the official's utterances did not reflect its own attitude. Both President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan resented the tone of the diplomat's statement.

Steamer and Ferryboat Crash But None Injured

(Associated Press Cable)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 5.—The ferry boat Berkeley today collided with the Pacific Coast Steamship Company's passenger steamer Umatilla, while both were navigating San Francisco bay during a dense fog. There were many passengers on both boats and a panic was narrowly averted in the big scare that followed the crash. Luckily not an injury was recorded and the damages to the vessels are deemed slight.

Meager Details of Disaster At Sea Reach Atlantic Ports

(Associated Press Cable)

NEW YORK, N. Y., Jan. 5.—Meager and conflicting wireless details flashed to this city from Atlantic Coast stations this morning indicate that the oil tanker Oklahoma sank yesterday off Sandy Hook. Twenty-four of the crew are reported drowned and eight rescued. Other reports give different casualties. The cause of the disaster is not plain.

(Associated Press Cable)

Moyer Still Threatening

(Associated Press Cable)

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 5.—President Charles T. Moyer of the Western Federation of Miners, still smarting over the treatment received at Calumet a few days ago, said today that he is informed that President Compton of the American Federation of Labor will shortly call an executive committee meeting to consider action. He says that the advisability of calling a general strike in sympathy with the strikes of miners in Michigan and Colorado will be considered at this meeting.

Another Crime Due To Fariss

(Associated Press Cable)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 5.—En route to his death cell, Ralph Fariss, the Southern Pacific train bandit, was recognized today as the burglar who killed E. D. Pere in one of the mysterious crimes that has been a puzzle to the police since December 20.

Militia Must Conform To Rule

(Associated Press Cable)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 5.—Major-general Leonard Wood, chief of staff, acting under the direction of Secretary of War Garrison, today made the announcement that the militia of the states and territories must conform to the regular army organization or lose the federal financial support now afforded.

The national guard of Hawaii has been possible to transfer the required number of men, on paper, to complete the 12th company, but it was thought best to live up to the spirit as well as the letter of the law, and consequently the guard organization here was reduced. Hawaii will get federal support for 11 companies, although the full regiment will probably be restored within a few days.

WEEKLY PRODUCE QUOTATION REPORT FROM U. S. STATION IS PUBLISHED TODAY FOR FIRST TIME

The Star-Bulletin publishes below the first weekly produce quotations issued by the U. S. experiment station here. These figures, compiled this morning under direction of Dr. E. V. Wilcox, agent in charge of the station, are being sent to producers over the territory.

This is one of the important functions of the marketing division of the station. By it the producers will be kept in close touch with the local market and in that way know what times are most advantageous to ship here. With several co-operative associations formed on the other islands under the encouragement and suggestions of Dr. Wilcox, the movement to "help the farmer help himself" has now with the issuance of these produce quotations, has advanced to a very encouraging point.
